THE AUTHORS

Allison Bannerman is a senior Political Science major originally from Bainbridge Island, WA. She has spent much of her time at Illinois Wesleyan studying the international environment and issues. In that spirit, she plans on joining the Peace Corps and spending the next two years serving in Africa before pursuing further education in law and international studies.

Liz Chandler is a senior Political Science and Women's Studies double major from Athens, Illinois. She is a member of Pi Sigma Alpha, Tri Iota, and Phi Beta Delta as well as a member of the Illinois Wesleyan Cross Country and Track teams. After graduation she will pursue a Master of Arts degree in American Government at Georgetown.

Elizabeth Dennis is a senior at Illinois Wesleyan University. She will graduate with her Bachelor of Arts Degree in May of 2007 with a double-major in Political Science and International Studies of Latin America. Her post-graduation plans include moving to Washington D.C. to work in either the non-profit sector or higher education.

Todd Kumler is a senior Economics and Mathematics major and Political Science minor, from Elgin, Illinois. During his collegiate career, he has served as Student Senate Treasurer, President of the Economics Society, and co-President of the College Democrats. He also studied abroad at the London School of Economics in 2005. Following graduation from Illinois Wesleyan, he intends to pursue a PhD in Economics with a concentration in development economics.

Brett Strand is currently putting the finishing touches on a BA in Political Science. His interest in government has leaned heavily towards the study of the former Soviet Union, and so he has also completed a minor in Russian language during his time at Illinois Wesleyan. After graduation, Brett will enjoy a few short months of rest before beginning his studies at the Notre Dame Law School.
