Kindred '63 Awarded for Outstanding Journalism

February 9, 2012

BLOOMINGTON, Ill. – Dave Kindred, a 1963 Illinois Wesleyan graduate, has been chosen as the 2012 winner of The Dick Schaap Award for Outstanding Journalism.

Kindred joins a list of previous Schaap Award recipients that include Bob Costas, Frank Deford, Jim McKay and Mitch Albom.

The Dick Schaap Award for Outstanding Journalism was established in 2002 to honor the memory of one of America's pre-eminent sports writers, Dick Schaap. The award is presented by the Nassau County Sports Commission and is given out to the journalist, in any medium, that best exemplifies the principles and talents of Dick Schaap during the past year. The award recipient is determined by confidential balloting of the Dick Schaap Selection Committee, which is composed of respected members of the media, and chaired by Dick's son, ESPN reporter Jeremy Schaap.

Although the recipient need not be a sports journalist, he/she must convey the passion and insight for the stories and people he/she covers as Schaap did.

Kindred further enhanced his readership from 1991 through 2007 as a columnist for The Sporting News. Since 1997, he has been a contributing writer for Golf Digest. He also is a regular contributor online for the National Sports Journalism Center at www.sportsjournalism.org.

Kindred's past honors included the 2010 Professional Golfers' Association (PGA) Lifetime Achievement Award in Journalism and the Associated Press Sports Editors' 1991 Red Smith Award for lifetime excellence in sports journalism.
