Note from the Editor:

As Managing Editor, I would like to thank all who helped to contribute to this year's edition of the Undergraduate Review. I am grateful not only to all students who contributed manuscripts, but also to the Wesleyan faculty and students who aided in evaluating the submissions. Special thanks to Dr. Larry Colter and Dr. Jerry Israel for the extra time and effort they contributed to the publication.

Although this is only the second edition of the Undergraduate Review, I·strongly believe that this publication has a very successful future. The purpose of the publication is to showcase exceptional pieces of undergraduate writing, which may cover an unlimited range of non-fictional works. In addition to acknowledging the outstanding quality of the works which have been included in this edition, I hope that it will also serve as a source of encouragement to future Wesleyan students whose work merits such recognition.
