Eric Jensen bio

Eric Jensen became Illinois Wesleyan's 19th president in 2015.

Under his leadership, Illinois Wesleyan has increased economic, ethnic, geographic and racial diversity in its incoming classes, exemplified by efforts such as the University's new partnership with the Posse Foundation. He has steered the University toward a concerted emphasis on experiential learning opportunities for students across the curriculum, highlighting the exceptional nature of the Illinois Wesleyan experience for a national and international audience. He earned both his Ph.D. and master's degrees in economics from the University of Michigan, and his undergraduate degree in economics from the University of Miami. He hails from Homewood, Illinois and is married to Elizabeth, a former middle school science teacher, who grew up in Williamsburg, Virginia.

Rosetta Clay – Bio

Rosetta Clay is the new Assistant Vice President of Alumni Engagement at Illinois Wesleyan. She has 20 years experience in marketing, strategic planning, event and program management; with more than 10 years in development and alumni relations in higher education. During her career, she has developed alumni, student and fundraising programs including regional and international clubs, alumni mentor programs, student engagement programs; as well as fundraising and annual giving campaigns. In addition, she has led board development and restructuring, strategic planning and community engagement programs. She received her Bachelor's degree in Mass Communications from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and master's degree in Marketing Management with an emphasis in Strategic Communications from The Johns Hopkins University Carey Business School. She is a St. Louis native, who is happy to be back in the Midwest after many years living in Maryland, North Carolina and California.
