*Alma Wesleyana

From hearts aflame, our love we pledge to thee,
Where'er we wander, over land or sea;
Through time unending loyal we will be—
True to our Alma Mater, Wesleyan.

When college days are fully past and gone,
While life endures, from twilight dream till dawn,
Grandly thy soul shall with us linger on—
Star-crowned, our Alma Mater, Wesleyan!

Edward B. Rust, Jr.—a 1972 business administration graduate of Illinois Wesleyan University—is chairman, president, and chief executive officer of State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Company, and almost a dozen other State Farm-related organizations. State Farm is the world’s largest property and casualty insurance company.

Rust is a member of IWU’s Board of Trustees, a post he has held since 1985, and chairs the $58 million Campaign for Illinois Wesleyan University, the largest fund-raising effort in university history. He was awarded IWU’s Robert M. Montgomery Young Alumnus award in 1984.

The 43-year-old Rust earned a law degree and a master of business administration degree in 1975 from Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Texas.

Rust joined State Farm’s Southwestern Regional Office in Dallas in 1975. He moved to the corporate law department in 1976 as an attorney at the home office in Bloomington, where he was named assistant vice president in 1978. He was elected vice president in 1981 and executive vice president and chief operating officer in 1983. Rust became State Farm’s president and chief executive officer in 1985 and was elected to the additional post of chairman of the board in 1987.

Rust is a corporate executive with a unique hobby. Some people collect stamps, others build model railroads—but how many business leaders collect bulldozers and other heavy equipment, the type of machinery used to excavate and haul tons of earth and build roads? His collection includes road graders, elevation scrapers, and forklifts—and some are vintage pieces going back to World War II. “I’m the first to recognize it’s a strange hobby,” Rust said in a recent Illinois Wesleyan University Magazine article, “but it tends to be relaxing for me.” The Chicago Tribune observed last December, “It often has been said that Ed Rust Jr. is a particularly down-to-earth kind of guy ... But just how down-to-earth never has been widely reported until” the IWU Magazine article. Rust estimated, the Tribune reported “that he has relocated about 7,000 cubic yards of dirt in recent years ... He is not, however, available to do driveways.”

Last month, Rust was among four business leaders inducted into the Hall of Outstanding Americans of the National Wrestling Hall of Fame in Stillwater, Okla. The hall honors former wrestlers who have achieved distinction in various walks of life. Rust wrestled for two seasons at IWU, earning top honors in his senior year. He was a varsity letterman in football and wrestling.

Among his charitable and civic activities, Rust has served as a trustee of the American Institute for Property and Liability Underwriters. He also is a former member of the Board of Overseers of the Institute for Civil Justice and is a member of the Illinois, Texas, and American Bar associations. Other memberships have included the Advisory Council of the Stanford University Graduate School of Business, Business Advisory Council of the University of Illinois College of Commerce and Business Administration, and the Illinois Business Roundtable.
E. Hugh Henning served with honor and distinction as president of Illinois Wesleyan University's Board of Trustees from 1986 – 94. Henning, a native of Fairbury, Ill., and a certified public accountant, was an IWU trustee for three decades, serving as treasurer from 1967 – 86. He succeeded Clifford E. Schneider, a Peoria attorney, who had served as board president from 1967 – 86.

When Henning stepped down as board president earlier this month, IWU President Minor Myers, jr., said: “Hugh Henning has been a first-class leader of Illinois Wesleyan’s Board of Trustees. The university has made great strides in the past 15 years, building on a base, long solid before that. In this development, the board has been no passive bystander, but a group of planners and supporters, of which Hugh Henning has been constantly at the center.” He has ever been ready with his time and counsel and much of our current good fortune is due to the efforts of our board president. Few colleges can make that claim so clearly. “It is with great pride, in a very fitting gesture, that his colleagues have voted to rename the room (in the Memorial Student Center) in which the Executive Committee of the board has met: ‘The Henning Room.’”

Over the years, Henning has served in numerous business and civic capacities, including president and director of Dewenter & Co.; director of Agri-Vestors Corporation; treasurer of Brewster Food Service, Inc., and treasurer and director of the Galesburg News Agency, Inc. He retired in 1992 after serving as a longtime partner in the CPA firm, Henning, Strouse, Jordan & Stephens.

In an October 13, 1993, article in The Pantagraph, marking the 50th anniversary of the accounting firm, Henning said: “Too many people think of accountants as historians—compiling records of what happened last week, last month, or last year. That's too narrow an interpretation. Successful (CPA) firms are forward-looking, developing the trust of their clients and business owners over years by helping them develop strategies that positively impact on their businesses.”

Henning earned an undergraduate degree in 1946 from Cornell College in Iowa and a master of science degree in accounting from the University of Illinois in 1948. He served in the U.S. Army from 1941 – 43 during World War II.
Academic Colors and Regalia

Like judicial robes, the garments worn on academic occasions such as today’s Commencement derive from the ecclesiastical garb of medieval England. The scholar in the Middles Ages, it must be remembered, was a clerk, and therefore required to wear the clerical gown and tonsure. Certainly, at Oxford and Cambridge, at least in the earliest times, the robes were monastic in origin, although the hood was adapted from a lay garment common to both sexes and all classes.

As early as the fourteenth Century, scholars of certain colleges were required by statute to wear "a decent habit" befitting a clerk and no evidence appears that there was much differentiation among undergraduates, bachelor’s, master’s and doctoral robes. All were black, commonly of lamb’s wool; most were fur-lined for warmth, or at least fur trimmed; and the only mark of difference was in the fuller cut and ankle length of the master’s gown. The cope, or closed cape, was also black and followed the style of the everyday mantle of the clergy.

Hoods were worn by all and probably had no academical significance at the beginning. By 1330-40 doctors began to adopt scarlet for their hoods, and by 1500, for their robes, with black retained by the masters of arts and bachelors of divinity. An act of Henry VIII in 1533 ratified the wearing of robes of other colors. Hoods were lined with silk and miniver fur, a custom surviving until the late seventeenth Century, but over the years distinctions were created to identify the various ranks and faculties.

Caps evolved in similar manner. The round velvet cap is still worn today in the full dress of doctors (except doctors in theology); the familiar square, or mortar-board, was copied in the early sixteenth Century from the thirteenth Century cap of the University of Paris. A third style also derives from Paris: a squared cap made by sewing four pieces of cloth with seams producing ridged edges, seen in modern times in the biretta of the clergy and the squared velvet cap of doctors of theology. The "who" and "how" of the wearing of caps produced numerous rulings, restrictions and change.

The Reformation repressed the brilliant silks, gold lace, costly furs and extravagant cut of academic robes, and the sober and more uniform styles are, for the most part, what we see today.

However, the growth of higher education in the United States during the nineteenth Century, when the great land grant colleges and universities were established under the Morrill Act, created a confusion of conflicting styles and colors. The easy identification of one’s academic status by means of cut, fabric and color was no longer true.

In 1893 an intercollegiate commission presented a uniform code for caps, gowns and hoods to be worn in the United States. The mortarboard caps are the same for doctoral, master’s and baccalaureate degrees, except that doctors’ caps may be of velvet and may have a gold tassel. The bachelor’s gown is marked by pointed sleeves, reaching to the knee, while the master’s sleeve is squared at the ends, and longer. The doctoral robe is fullest, with rounded bell shaped sleeves marked by three velvet stripes.

The greatest symbolism of the academic costume is borne by the hood, which identifies the level of the degree, the faculty (or department of learning) in which it was earned, and the institution which awarded it. The size of the hood, its shape and the width of its velvet trim identify the level of the degree, with doctoral hoods naturally being the fullest, widest and longest. Faculty colors tell us the department. Today’s graduates will be wearing white for the College of Liberal Arts, pink for the School of Music, golden yellow for the sciences and brown for the fine arts. Faculty members in the processional may be wearing light blue for education, copper for economics, drab for business and accountancy, orange for engineering, purple for law, lemon for library science, green for medicine, apricot for nursing, dark blue for philosophy, sage green for physical sciences, cream for social sciences and scarlet for theology, among the many available. The colors are mandatory on hoods, but may also be used on the tassels and/or the velvet on doctoral gowns.

The university or college is usually identified by the color of the hood lining. Two colors are frequently used, since there are approximately 2,000 degree-granting institutions in the United States. A few, such as Harvard, Yale, Princeton and the University of Chicago, use a single color. Illinois Wesleyan's green and white was adopted in 1888.

The Illinois Wesleyan University Mace, first carried at the 1969 inauguration of Dr. Robert S. Eckley as fifteenth president of the University, is also a striking symbol of the institution. Made of bronze for power and endurance and of walnut for organic strength, its cupola represents the bell tower of Old North Hall, Wesleyan's first building, which was erected in 1856 and demolished in 1967 to make way for Sheean Library. The bell suggests the Hedding Bell, a campus landmark since 1931, when it was installed on the IWU campus after pealing for generations at Hedding College, now defunct. The staff of the Mace is made from the walnut of Old North Hall, and the names of Wesleyan's presidents are engraved on its bronze base.
