ILLINOIS WESLEYAN
UNIVERSITY

PICTURED ON THE COVER: Stevenson Hall, home to the School of Nursing, is the oldest standing campus building dating back to 1910. Originally built as the Science Hall, it became home to the nursing program in 1959. In 1965 it was renamed Stevenson Hall, when a new science building took its place on the current site of the Center for Liberal Arts.

Founded in 1850 by 30 civic and Methodist Church leaders, Illinois Wesleyan today is among the nation's leading private liberal arts institutions.

The University's first graduate was James H. Barger, son of founder Rev. John S. Barger, who received his bachelor of science degree July 3, 1853. Hannah I. Shur, the first woman to enroll at Illinois Wesleyan, earned her degree in 1872. In 1880, Gus A. Hill earned a degree from the former school of law, 13 years after the Board of Trustees invited enrollment of African-Americans. Two Japanese students, Y. Osawa and K. Tanaka, became the University's first international graduates in 1890.

The central portion of the University's 80-acre campus was acquired in 1854. Wesleyan's first building, Old North Hall, was erected in 1856 and served for 110 years before it was removed in 1966 to make way for Sheean Library. Old Main, the second campus building, was built in 1870 and renamed Hedding Hall in 1931, after Illinois Wesleyan absorbed Hedding College during the Great Depression. The Hedding College bell, which was saved from the college's administration building before it was raised, was placed atop a stone marker on the south end of the Eckley Quadrangle. In 1943, Hedding Hall was destroyed by fire and the remaining ground floor structure became known as Duration Hall. The Memorial Center, located on the west end of the quad, was dedicated in 1947 to Wesleyan men and women who served in World War II. The oldest building on campus is Stevenson Hall, which was built in 1910 as the University's first science building and now serves as home to the School of Nursing.

Richard F. Wilson was named the University's 18th president in 2004. The Eckley Quadrangle, on which Commencement takes place, honors Robert S. Eckley, the University's 15th president. Clinton W. Sears became Illinois Wesleyan's first president in 1855.

Graduates of the class of 2010 join the more than 20,000 Illinois Wesleyan alumni living in all 50 states and 52 countries around the world.

America The Beautiful

O beautiful for spacious skies,
For amber waves of grain,
For purple mountain majesties

America! America!
God shed his grace on thee,
And crown thy good with brotherhood
From sea to shining sea.

— Katherine Lee Bates
(1859-1929)

Alma Wesleyana

From hearts aflame our love we pledge to thee,
Where'er we wander over land or sea;
Through time unending loyal we will be —
True to our Alma Mater Wesleyan.

When college days are fully past and gone,
While life endures from twilight dream till dawn,
Grandly thy soul shall with us linger on —
Star-crowned our Alma Mater Wesleyan!

— Professor W. E. Schultz
(1887-1964)

Academic Distinctions

Students with excellent final cumulative grade point averages are recognized as:

Summa Cum Laude—with highest honor—3.90 GPA or higher

Magna Cum Laude—with great honor—3.70 GPA or higher

Cum Laude—with honor—3.50 or higher GPA or higher

National Honor Societies

Illinois Wesleyan students are eligible for membership in the nation's two best-known honor societies, Phi Beta Kappa and Phi Kappa Phi. For both societies, eligibility is limited to those students whose academic performance places them in the top 10 percent of their class during their junior or senior year.

ΦBK Phi Beta Kappa was founded at the College of William and Mary in 1776. It is the nation's oldest national academic honorary society. The society's motto, "Love of learning is the guide of life," represents the society's commitment to the liberal arts. Now found on 276 college and university campuses, the Illinois Wesleyan chapter was granted a charter in 2001.

ΦΚΦ Phi Kappa Phi was founded at the University of Maine in 1897 and is the oldest all-discipline academic honor society. The society's mission is "to recognize and promote academic excellence in all fields of higher education and to engage the community of scholars in service to others." With chapters on over 300 campuses, the Illinois Wesleyan chapter was chartered in 1922.

Academic Colors and Regalia

Like judicial robes, the garments worn on academic occasions such as today's Commencement derive from the ecclesiastical garb of medieval England. The scholar in the Middle Ages, it must be remembered, was a clerk, and therefore required to wear the clerical gown and tonsure. Certainly, at Oxford and Cambridge, at least in the earliest times, the robes were monastic in origin, although the hood was adapted from a lay garment common to both sexes and all classes.

As early as the fourteenth Century, scholars of certain colleges were required by statute to wear "a decent habit" befitting a clerk and no evidence appears that there was much differentiation among undergraduates, bachelor's, master's, and doctoral robes. All were black, commonly of lamb's wool; most were fur-lined for warmth or at least fur trimmed; and the only mark of difference was in the fuller cut and ankle length of the master's gown. The cope, or closed cape, was also black and followed the style of the everyday mantle of the clergy.

Hoods were worn by all and probably had no academical significance at the beginning. By 1330-40 doctors began to adopt scarlet for their hoods, and by 1500, for their robes, with black retained by the masters of arts and bachelors of divinity. An act of Henry VIII in 1533 ratified the wearing of robes of other colors. Hoods were lined with silk and miniver fur, a custom surviving until the late seventeenth Century, but over the years distinctions were created to identify the various ranks and faculties.

Caps evolved in similar manner. The round velvet cap is still worn today in the full dress of doctors (except doctors in theology); the familiar square, or mortar-board, was copied in the early sixteenth Century from the thirteenth Century cap of the University of Paris. A third style also derives from Paris: a squared cap made by sewing four pieces of cloth with seams producing ridged edges, seen in modern times in the biretta of the clergy and the squared velvet cap of doctors of theology. The "who" and "how" of the wearing of caps produced numerous rulings, restrictions, and change.

The Reformation repressed the brilliant silks, gold lace, costly furs, and extravagant cut of academic robes, and the sober and more uniform styles are for the most part what we see today.

However, the growth of higher education in the United States during the nineteenth Century, when the great land grant colleges and universities were established under the Morrill Act, created a confusion of conflicting styles and colors. The easy identification of one's academic status by means of cut, fabric, and color was no longer true.

In 1893 an intercollegiate commission presented a uniform code for caps, gowns, and hoods to be worn in the United States. The mortarboard caps are the same for doctoral, master's, and baccalaureate degrees, except that doctors' caps may be of velvet and may have a gold tassel. The bachelor's gown is marked by pointed sleeves, reaching to the knee, while the master's sleeve is squared at the ends, and longer. The doctoral robe is fullest, with rounded bell shaped sleeves marked by three velvet stripes.

The greatest symbolism of the academic costume is borne by the hood, which identifies the level of the degree, the faculty (or department of learning) in which it was earned, and the institution which awarded it. The size of the hood, its shape, and the width of its velvet trim identify the level of the degree, with doctoral hoods naturally being the fullest, widest, and longest. Faculty colors tell us the department.

Today's graduates will be wearing white for the College of Liberal Arts, pink for the School of Music, apricot for the School of Nursing, golden yellow for the sciences, and brown for the fine arts. Faculty members in the processional may be wearing light blue for education, copper for economics, drab for business and accountancy, orange for engineering, purple for law, lemon for library science, green for medicine, apricot for nursing, dark blue for philosophy, sage green for physical sciences, cream for social sciences, and scarlet for theology, among the many available. The colors are mandatory on hoods, but may also be used on the tassels and/or the velvet on doctoral gowns.

The university or college is usually identified by the color of the hood lining. Two colors are frequently used, since there are approximately 2,000 degree-granting institutions in the United States. A few, such as Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and the University of Chicago, use a single color. Illinois Wesleyan's green and white was adopted in 1888.

The Illinois Wesleyan University Mace, first carried at the 1969 inauguration of Dr. Robert S. Eckley as fifteenth president of the University, is also a striking symbol of the institution. Made of bronze for power and endurance and of walnut for organic strength, its cupola represents the bell tower of Old North Hall, Illinois Wesleyan's first building, which was erected in 1856 and demolished in 1966 to make way for Shecan Library. The bell suggests the Hedding Bell, a campus landmark since 1931, when it was installed on the IWU campus after Hedding College was absorbed by the University during the Great Depression. The staff of the Mace is made from the walnut of Old North Hall, and the names of Illinois Wesleyan's presidents are engraved on its bronze base.

Ann Stroink, M.D.

Skilled surgeon. Impassioned teacher. Creative innovator. Caring life saver. These terms and more describe Illinois Wesleyan alumna Dr. Ann Stroink.

A 1976 graduate of Illinois Wesleyan, Dr. Stroink is more than a board-certified neurosurgeon and senior partner of Central Illinois Neuro Health Sciences. She is known throughout her field as a dedicated and compassionate doctor, who is unyielding in her determination.

During her career, she has broken barriers. A biology major at Illinois Wesleyan, Dr. Stroink was the first woman to train in general neurosurgery at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., and was a fellow in pediatric neurosurgery at the Hospital for Sick Children at the University of Toronto.

"There weren't a lot of women in pre-med back then," said Professor Emeritus Wendell Hess, who served as head of Illinois Wesleyan's Chemistry Department, "but I knew soon that Ann was going to make it. She was bright, motivated and disciplined."

In 1985, Dr. Stroink returned to Bloomington, also her hometown, and focused her skill and dedication to serve the people of Central Illinois. For 10 years, Dr. Stroink was the only neurosurgeon in the area. Twenty-five years later, the practice she established has grown to include several neurosurgeons and has attracted numerous neuro-specialists to the community.

Her work goes beyond saving lives. Dr. Stroink's commitment to excellence in patient care, teaching and scientific inquiry, led her to co-found the Central Illinois Neuroscience Foundation, a not-for-profit organization dedicated to enhancing neuro healthcare through education and research.

As Director of Continuing Medical Education for the Foundation, Dr. Stroink has championed life-long learning in the neurosciences among physicians, nurses and allied health professionals with the overarching goals of improving patient care, outcomes and quality of life. Building on the success of this program, Dr. Stroink and her colleagues, in collaboration with local hospitals, also established a neurosurgical residency program to train young physicians in the art and science of neurosurgery, raising the level and access to neuro healthcare in Central Illinois.

With innovative developments in technology, Dr. Stroink also seized an opportunity to further enhance patient care by bringing cutting-edge, highly-advanced image-guided robotic radiosurgery to Bloomington. One of the first of its kind in the United States, the CyberKnife® is now used to treat cancers of the brain, spinal cord and other organ systems. Dr. Stroink has been instrumental in developing research protocols to expand this treatment. Her contributions to the body of evidence-based medicine have been published in some of the most widely respected peer-reviewed journals.

Along with her commitment to education and advancing the field of neurosurgery, she has also taken leadership roles to ensure the sharing of ideas, and to inspire others. A former president of the Illinois State Neurosurgical Society, diplomat and officer in the Council of State Neurosurgical Societies, and active member of the American Association of Neurological Surgeons and the Congress of Neurological Surgeons, Dr. Stroink avidly volunteers her time and energies to give back to her profession.

A 1986 recipient of Illinois Wesleyan University's Outstanding Young Alumna Award, she also served as a member of the Illinois Wesleyan University Board of Trustees from 2002 to 2003. Today Dr. Stroink will be bestowed an honorary doctorate from Illinois Wesleyan University. It is a thank you for her continued effort to save lives, to educate others and to share her enduring spirit.

Robert Quinn

Robert Quinn creates sanctuaries for scholars who find their very lives threatened in their quest to share knowledge. Mr. Quinn is the founding executive director of the Scholars at Risk Network (SAR), of which Illinois Wesleyan is a founding member. An international network of more than 200 universities in 26 countries, SAR is dedicated to promoting respect for academic freedom and defending the human rights of scholars and their communities worldwide.

Mr. Quinn launched SAR at the University of Chicago's Human Rights Program in 2000, with seed money from the MacArthur Foundation. Now housed at New York University, the organization creates temporary academic positions for between 50 to 75 scholars each year whose lives have been threatened in their home country. SAR has also been instrumental in creating partner networks around the world, while providing training to academics and administrators who must confront academic freedom abuses and violations on a repeated basis.

Universities must operate freely because they stand on the front lines of change, Mr. Quinn has declared. Both a lawyer and a teacher, he is a former adjunct professor of law at Fordham University School of Law in New York, where he taught courses in international human rights and the U.S. legal systems. He received a bachelor's degree from Princeton University in 1988 and a degree from Fordham Law School in 1994.

Mr. Quinn is the founding executive director of the Scholar Rescue Fund, which provides fellowships through the Institute of International Education. He serves on the Steering Committee of the Network for Education and Academic Rights (NEAR) and the Committee on Scientific Freedom and Responsibility of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. He was recently named a Woodrow Wilson Visiting Fellow by the Council of Independent Colleges.

As a founding member of SAR, Illinois Wesleyan has hosted two Scholars at Risk in residence and sponsored six scholar lectures regarding academic freedom violations in Iran, Pakistan, Chechnya, Cameroon and Ethiopia.

Prior to and during the Commencement ceremony, the Illinois Wesleyan Alumni Association will sponsor a hospitality beverage tent which is located south of Shaw Hall on the east side of the Eckley Quadrangle. A first-aid station is located near the tent. In the Shirk Center these same services will be available in the lobby.

Light refreshments may be purchased at Hattie's and Tommy's in the Hansen Student Center and the Coffee Shoppe in Memorial Center. The University Bookstore in the Hansen Student Center offers many items for sale.

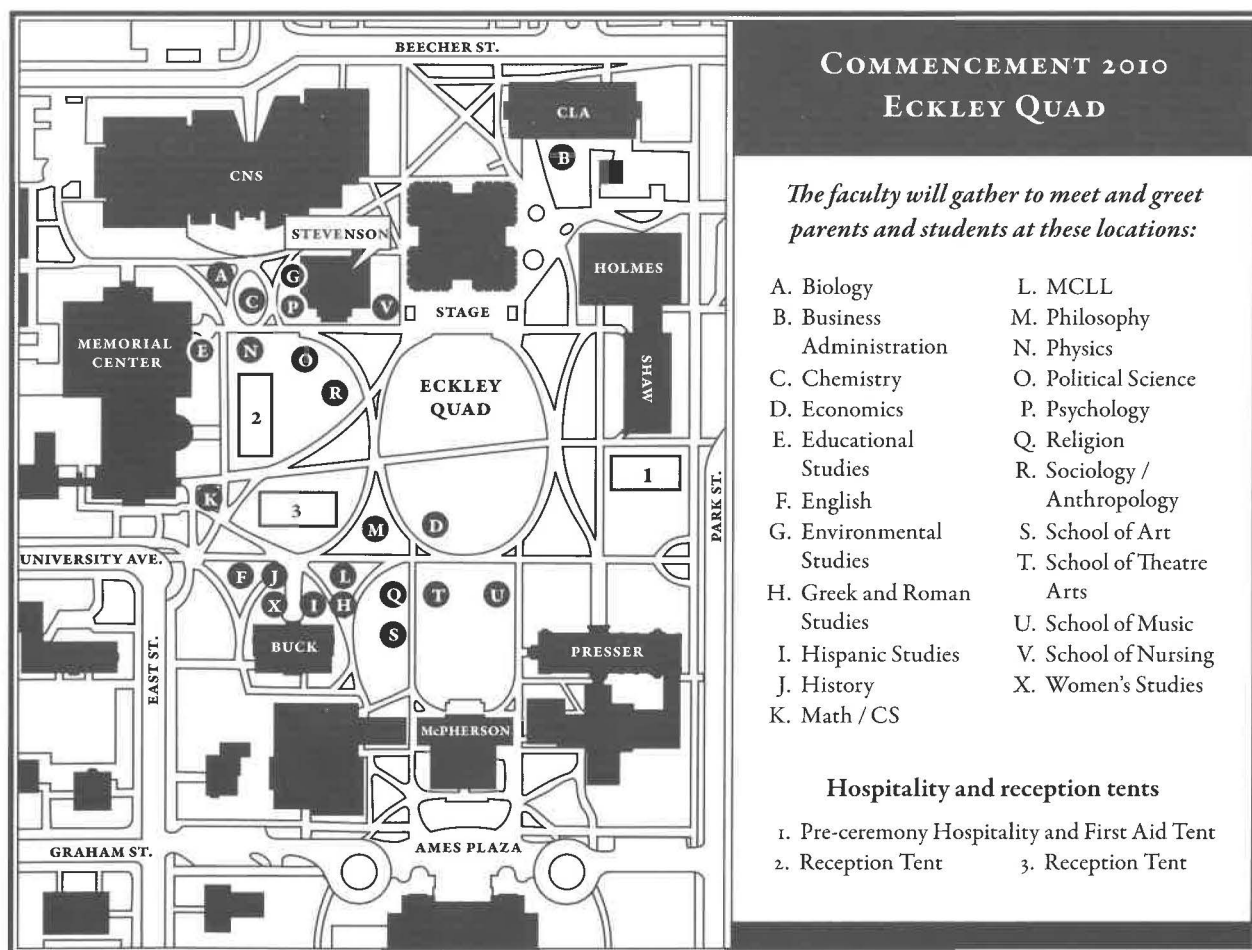

Near the Eckley Quadrangle, restrooms are located on the first floor of the following buildings: Shaw Hall, Center for Liberal Arts (wheelchair accessible), Memorial Center, and Holmes Hall.

In the Shirk Center, the restrooms are located to the north of the lobby.

Following the ceremony, the Illinois Wesleyan Alumni Association invites you to a short reception in the tents on Eckley Quadrangle. If the ceremony is in the Shirk Center, the reception will be in the Activity Center.

Faculty look forward to greeting the graduates and their families during the reception.

Senior marshals for the Commencement ceremony are Professors Frank Boyd and Rebecca Roesner. Student marshals from the Class of 2011 are the Class President, Sean Gower, and Vice President, Melissa Solis.
