Narendra Jaggi

Professor of Physics

Recipient of The Kemp Foundation Award for Teaching Excellence — 2013

A materials physicist by training, Professor of Physics Narendra Jaggi is an engaging teacher, a celebrated scholar and an active communitarian. Dr. Jaggi believes that students and faculty can learn from each other and that genuine affection and enthusiasm for learning can be infectious.

“Dr. Jaggi has been a wonderful model for our students of the value of life-long learning and a liberal education,” said Jonathan Green, provost and dean of the faculty. “He is constantly drawing new connections between disparate disciplines, and he generously shares the insights he derives from these interconnections. Dr. Jaggi has often been the conscience of our community, putting into words and actions his fervent commitment to social justice.”

In 2003, Dr. Jaggi was named the Illinois Professor of the Year by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching and the Council for Advancement and Support of Education (CASE). He also was named Professor of the Year 2002-2003 by IWU’s Student Senate.

A native of India, Dr. Jaggi received degrees in physics from Ranchi University and from the University of Bombay where he earned a Ph.D. After working in the Department of Atomic Energy in Bombay, he pursued a postdoctoral fellowship at Northwestern University, and then joined the physics department at Northeastern University in Boston before coming to IWU in 1991.

Dr. Jaggi, who teaches among other subjects, the physics of nonlinear systems, has co-authored 39 research papers in journals in both physics and sociology. He conducts research in the areas of possible signatures of extra spatial dimensionality (four and above) by measuring and analyzing electrical properties of hypercubic networks of lumped electronic elements and the use of Mathematica as an integrated and distributed tool in the undergraduate physics curriculum. Dr. Jaggi also has collaborated with Professor of Physics Linda French on the analysis of her group’s data on rotational properties of Trojan Asteroids.

Described as a conscientious “communitarian,” Dr. Jaggi has led many events dealing with acceptance of difference and diversity, including the “Hoodies or Hijabs: The Hate Has to Stop” demonstration in March 2012 on the Eckley Quadrangle. He also has been a participant in the Coalition for Diversity and Reconciliation, Not in Our Town and the McLean County India Association, of which he is a former president.

Dr. Jaggi has been an active participant in faculty governance, serving as the Chair of Chairs in the Natural Science Division, as Chair of the Faculty Development Committee, as Chair of Curriculum Council, as Chair of the Hearing Committee, as a member of the Council on University Programs and Policy and many other committees.

Excellence in teaching is a hallmark of Illinois Wesleyan. The Teaching Excellence Award was established to recognize this strength and to honor one faculty member at this occasion who brings spirit, passion and scholarship to the art of teaching. Today we honor Professor Narendra Jaggi.
