Old Main was Illinois Wesleyan's second campus building. It was built in 1870 on the site of today's commencement ceremony. In 1931, Old Main was expanded, remodeled and renamed Hedding Hall, after Wesleyan absorbed Hedding College during the Great Depression. In 1943, Hedding Hall was destroyed by fire, with only the entry arch and foundation remaining. The foundation was later roofed over and the building renamed Duration Hall, which stood until 1967 when it was demolished to make way for Sheean Library.

Founded in 1850 by 30 civic and Methodist Church leaders, Illinois Wesleyan today is among the nation’s leading private liberal arts institutions.

The University’s first graduate was James H. Barger, son of founder Rev. John S. Barger, who received his bachelor of science degree July 3, 1853. Hannah I. Shur, the first woman to enroll at Illinois Wesleyan, earned her degree in 1872. In 1880, Gus A. Hill earned a degree from the former school of law, 13 years after the Board of Trustees invited enrollment of African-Americans. Two Japanese students, Y. Osawa and K. Tanaka, became the University’s first international graduates in 1890.

The central portion of the University’s 80-acre campus was acquired in 1854. Wesleyan’s first building, Old North Hall, was erected in 1856 and served for 110 years before it was removed in 1966 to make way for Sheean Library. Hedding Hall—also known as “Old Main”—was built in 1870 and destroyed by fire in 1943. The Hedding Bell was saved and is on display on the south end of the quad. The Memorial Center, located on the west end of the quad, was dedicated in 1947 to Wesleyan men and women who served in World War II. The oldest building on campus is Stevenson Hall, which was built in 1910 as the University’s first science building and now serves as home to the School of Nursing.

Richard F. Wilson was named the University’s 18th president in 2004, succeeding Minor Myers, jr., who died during his 14th year in office. The Eckley Quadrangle, on which Commencement takes place, honors Robert S. Eckley, the University’s 15th president. Clinton W. Sears became Illinois Wesleyan’s first president in 1855.

Graduates of the class of 2009 join the more than 20,000 Illinois Wesleyan alumni living in all 50 states and 52 countries around the world.

America The Beautiful

O beautiful for spacious skies,
For amber waves of grain,
For purple mountain majesties

America! America!
God shed his grace on thee,
And crown thy good with brotherhood
From sea to shining sea.

— Katherine Lee Bates
(1859-1929)

Alma Wesleyana

From hearts aflame our love we pledge to thee,
Where'er we wander over land or sea;
Through time unending loyal we will be—
True to our Alma Mater Wesleyan.

When college days are fully past and gone,
While life endures from twilight dream till dawn,
Grandly thy soul shall with us linger on—
Star-crowned our Alma Mater Wesleyan!

— Professor W. E. Schultz
(1887-1964)

Howard R. Fricke '60

Once named the most powerful person in the State of Kansas' capital city of Topeka, Howard R. Fricke has fulfilled his belief that good business is one means of contributing to the values of a society.

“In the competitive world of business and finance, Howard Fricke has a reputation for inspiring others,” wrote the Topeka newspaper in 2000. A 1993 recipient of Illinois Wesleyan's Distinguished Alumnus Award, Mr. Fricke was further honored as an influential business leader when he was inducted into the Kansas Business Hall of Fame in 2008. When he spoke to students and faculty at Homecoming last October, many came away inspired by his integrity and ability as a mentor.

“It stuck me how Mr. Fricke's business philosophy did not focus on greedily absorbing power at the expense of his co-workers, but rather emphasized respect, modesty and trust,” said Megan Lee '10, president of the IWU Accounting Society. “He said management is a power granted to you by your superiors, but the power to lead is granted to you by those you lead.”

Born near Springfield, Illinois, Mr. Fricke graduated from Illinois Wesleyan with a bachelor's degree in insurance and was still attending classes when he got his start in the industry with State Farm Insurance Cos. He moved into the executive ranks at Horace Mann Insurance as senior vice president and chief administrative officer, and in 1976 was named president of American Health and Life Insurance in Baltimore, Maryland. He also completed the Harvard University Graduate School of Business, Advanced Management Program.

In 1988, Mr. Fricke joined the Security Benefit Group of Companies, a nationwide financial services, asset management and retirement planning organization where he served as Chairman of the Board, President and CEO. By the time he stepped down as the board chair in 2006, his innovative leadership helped the company's assets grow from $2 billion to more than $36 billion.

Both Fortune and Working Mother magazines selected Security Benefit Group as one of the 100 best companies to work for in America. Mr. Fricke set the pace for Security Benefit's nationally recognized volunteer program, serving as director of the Menninger Foundation and Stormont-Vail HealthCare among others. He is also the past chairman for both the United Way of Greater Topeka and the Greater Topeka Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Fricke also had an active public service career, serving as the Secretary of the Kansas Department of Administration from 2003 to 2005 and then as Secretary of Commerce from 2005 to 2007. As Secretary of Administration, he dramatically reduced the costs of Kansas government functions while improving the efficiency and quality of service. At Commerce, Mr. Fricke led the state's efforts in creating jobs through business recruitment and expansion, agriculture marketing, workforce and community development, international trade, and travel and tourism. In the early 1970's he served the State of Illinois as Secretary of the Department of Business and Economic Development.

“Howard Fricke serves as a great role model for students,” said IWU Professor of Accounting Jerry Olson. “He is truly interested in seeing young people be successful.”

Mr. Fricke and his wife, fellow Illinois Wesleyan graduate Sharon Linton Fricke, now reside in Nevada. Two of their three children are also alumni of Illinois Wesleyan.

Academic Colors and Regalia

Like judicial robes, the garments worn on academic occasions such as today's Commencement derive from the ecclesiastical garb of medieval England. The scholar in the Middles Ages, it must be remembered, was a clerk, and therefore required to wear the clerical gown and tonsure. Certainly, at Oxford and Cambridge, at least in the earliest times, the robes were monastic in origin, although the hood was adapted from a lay garment common to both sexes and all classes.

As early as the fourteenth Century, scholars of certain colleges were required by statute to wear "a decent habit" befitting a clerk and no evidence appears that there was much differentiation among undergraduates, bachelor's, master's, and doctoral robes. All were black, commonly of lamb's wool; most were fur-lined for warmth or at least fur trimmed; and the only mark of difference was in the fuller cut and ankle length of the master's gown. The cope, or closed cape, was also black and followed the style of the everyday mantle of the clergy.

Hoods were worn by all and probably had no academical significance at the beginning. By 1330-40 doctors began to adopt scarlet for their hoods, and by 1500, for their robes, with black retained by the masters of arts and bachelors of divinity. An act of Henry VIII in 1533 ratified the wearing of robes of other colors. Hoods were lined with silk and miniver fur, a custom surviving until the late seventeenth Century, but over the years distinctions were created to identify the various ranks and faculties.

Caps evolved in similar manner. The round velvet cap is still worn today in the full dress of doctors (except doctors in theology); the familiar square, or mortar-board, was copied in the early sixteenth Century from the thirteenth Century cap of the University of Paris. A third style also derives from Paris: a squared cap made by sewing four pieces of cloth with seams producing ridged edges, seen in modern times in the biretta of the clergy and the squared velvet cap of doctors of theology. The "who" and "how" of the wearing of caps produced numerous rulings, restrictions, and change.

The Reformation repressed the brilliant silks, gold lace, costly furs, and extravagant cut of academic robes, and the sober and more uniform styles are for the most part what we see today.

However, the growth of higher education in the United States during the nineteenth Century, when the great land grant colleges and universities were established under the Morrill Act, created a confusion of conflicting styles and colors. The easy identification of one's academic status by means of cut, fabric, and color was no longer true.

In 1893 an intercollegiate commission presented a uniform code for caps, gowns, and hoods to be worn in the United States. The mortarboard caps are the same for doctoral, master's, and baccalaureate degrees, except that doctors' caps may be of velvet and may have a gold tassel. The bachelor's gown is marked by pointed sleeves, reaching to the knee, while the master's sleeve is squared at the ends, and longer. The doctoral robe is fullest, with rounded bell shaped sleeves marked by three velvet stripes.

The greatest symbolism of the academic costume is borne by the hood, which identifies the level of the degree, the faculty (or department of learning) in which it was earned, and the institution which awarded it. The size of the hood, its shape, and the width of its velvet trim identify the level of the degree, with doctoral hoods naturally being the fullest, widest, and longest. Faculty colors tell us the department.

Today's graduates will be wearing white for the College of Liberal Arts, pink for the School of Music, apricot for the School of Nursing, golden yellow for the sciences, and brown for the fine arts. Faculty members in the processional may be wearing light blue for education, copper for economics, drab for business and accountancy, orange for engineering, purple for law, lemon for library science, green for medicine, apricot for nursing, dark blue for philosophy, sage green for physical sciences, cream for social sciences, and scarlet for theology, among the many available. The colors are mandatory on hoods, but may also be used on the tassels and/or the velvet on doctoral gowns.

The university or college is usually identified by the color of the hood lining. Two colors are frequently used, since there are approximately 2,000 degree-granting institutions in the United States. A few, such as Harvard, Yale, Princeton, and the University of Chicago, use a single color. Illinois Wesleyan's green and white was adopted in 1888.

The Illinois Wesleyan University Mace, first carried at the 1969 inauguration of Dr. Robert S. Eckley as fifteenth president of the University, is also a striking symbol of the institution. Made of bronze for power and endurance and of walnut for organic strength, its cupola represents the bell tower of Old North Hall, Illinois Wesleyan's first building, which was erected in 1856 and demolished in 1967 to make way for Sheean Library. The bell suggests the Hedding Bell, a campus landmark since 1931, when it was installed on the IWU campus after pealing for generations at Hedding College, now defunct. The staff of the Mace is made from the walnut of Old North Hall, and the names of Illinois Wesleyan's presidents are engraved on its bronze base.

National Honor Societies

Illinois Wesleyan students are eligible for membership in the nation’s two best-known honor societies, Phi Beta Kappa and Phi Kappa Phi. For both societies, eligibility is limited to those students whose academic performance places them in the top 10 percent of their class during their junior or senior year.

ΦBK Phi Beta Kappa was founded at the College of William and Mary in 1776. It is the nation’s oldest national academic honorary society. The society’s motto, “Love of learning is the guide of life,” represents the society’s commitment to the liberal arts. Now found on 276 college and university campuses, the Illinois Wesleyan chapter was granted a charter in 2001.

ΦΚΦ Phi Kappa Phi was founded at the University of Maine in 1897 and is the oldest all-discipline academic honor society. The society’s mission is “to recognize and promote academic excellence in all fields of higher education and to engage the community of scholars in service to others.” With chapters on over 300 campuses, the Illinois Wesleyan chapter was chartered in 1922.
