

Apr 8th, 11:00 AM - 12:00 PM

Multicultural Education and Its Benefits for the Classroom

Ashley Christensen
Illinois Wesleyan University

Lauren Suchomski
Illinois Wesleyan University

Leah Nillas, Faculty Advisor
Illinois Wesleyan University

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.iwu.edu/jwprc>

Christensen, Ashley; Suchomski, Lauren; and Nillas, Faculty Advisor, Leah, "Multicultural Education and Its Benefits for the Classroom" (2006). John Wesley Powell Student Research Conference. 2.

<https://digitalcommons.iwu.edu/jwprc/2006/oralpres11/2>

This is protected by copyright and/or related rights. It has been brought to you by Digital Commons @ IWU with permission from the rights-holder(s). You are free to use this material in any way that is permitted by the copyright and related rights legislation that applies to your use. For other uses you need to obtain permission from the rights-holder(s) directly, unless additional rights are indicated by a Creative Commons license in the record and/ or on the work itself. This material has been accepted for inclusion by faculty at Illinois Wesleyan University. For more information, please contact digitalcommons@iwu.edu.

©Copyright is owned by the author of this document.

Oral Presentation O11.2

MULTICULTURAL EDUCATION AND ITS BENEFITS FOR THE CLASSROOM

Ashley Christensen and Lauren Suchomski and Leah Nillas*
Educational Studies Department, Illinois Wesleyan University

Within the last twenty years, multicultural education has proven to be an effective teaching practice that is beneficial both to students and their learning in the classroom. This research project investigates what multicultural education is, why it is important to implement, and provides ideas and examples of how it could be incorporated in a classroom. Using literature reviews, surveys from teachers, students and pre-service teachers, and school policies, multicultural education was shown to be pertinent and prevalent in the classroom. Beneficial ideas for implementation were also found. Knowledge of multicultural education is necessary in today's increasingly diverse society to help students feel more comfortable and to enhance their learning in the classroom.