Poster Presentation P57

ANIME; AN ILLINOIS WESLEYAN CULTURE CLUB

Nicole Wagner and Rebecca Gearhart*

Sociology and Anthropology Department, Illinois Wesleyan University

Using visual ethnography, this poster presentation is a means to educate people about the unique characteristics of the IWU Anime Club. This research focuses on how Anime unites Club members through activities that allow them to bond with each other as well as express their individuality. One of these activities is Cosplay or “costume play,” in which participants outfit themselves in costumes and accessories worn by specific anime characters. As anime becomes more integrated into mainstream American culture, Anime Club members share their enjoyment of anime through Cosplay events as well as bi-monthly anime film screenings that are open to the entire IWU student body. New members are always welcome to join in. The research highlights how members of the IWU Anime Club express a unique sense of self-identity through a specific type of media that they enjoy.
