Founders Day
February 18, 1987

Warren Bryan Martin is Senior Fellow at the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, Princeton, NJ. During his six years with the foundation, Dr. Martin has also served as Scholar-in-Residence and Senior Program Officer; participating, for example, in the study recently published under the title, College: The Undergraduate Experience in America. His own latest book, College of Character, won the Frederick Ness Award presented by the Association of American Colleges in 1984 as the best book on higher education.

Before coming to Carnegie in 1980, Dr. Martin had been active in philanthropy, research, college teaching and administration. He was vice-president of the Danforth Foundation and director of the Danforth Graduate Fellowship Program, 1974-80. He was research educator and director of development at the Center for the Study of Higher Education, University of California, Berkeley, from 1966 to 72. Earlier he had been provost and professor of history at Raymond College, University of the Pacific, and, still earlier, a faculty member and department chairman at Cornell College.

Dr. Martin holds the Doctor of Philosophy degree from Boston University. He has received five honorary degrees and several distinguished service awards. He is the recipient of the Outstanding Service Award presented by the Council of Independent Colleges (1986). Dr. Martin has been granted the Senior Research Award, University of London, under the Fulbright-Hays Act. He is a former member of the Senior Commission, Western Association of Schools and Colleges, and has been chairman of many accreditation committees. He is a member of the board of trustees at two colleges, and serves as consultant through the Educational Development Service to colleges and universities as well as to state, national, and international agencies.

Dr. Martin is the author of three books, the editor of two others, and has published more than fifty professional articles. He visits colleges and universities regularly as lecturer, researcher, and consultant. He also frequently addresses civic and religious organizations. His views on educational change and American values have been reported and evaluated by Time, Newsweek, and by the major media services.

ALMA WESLEYANA

From hearts aflame, our love we pledge to thee
Where'er we wander, over land or sea;
Through time unending loyal we will be —
True to our Alma Mater, Wesleyan.

When college days are fully past and gone,
While life endures, from twilight dream til dawn
Grandly thy soul shall with us linger on —
Star-crowned, our Alma Mater, Wesleyan!

ORGAN POSTLUDE John Clark, Organist

“Now Thank We All Our God” S. Karg-Elert
