THE POWERFUL SCHOLAR OF CULTURE: POST-STRUCTURAL IMPLICATIONS, SELF-REFLEXIVITY AND (EN)GENDERED SUBJECTIVITIES

Maria T. Holsen and David R. Fryer*
Department of Religion, Illinois Wesleyan University

In evaluating the rigidity between objectivity and subjectivity in the social sciences, the problem of scholars' power position in representing societies' and individuals' identity dominates the debate. Using post-structural theory, this research analyzes Western feminist and self-reflexive methodology, concentrating on the tensions, inequalities, and contradictory narcissism that may surface in the attempt to textually conceptualize, critique, and communicate culture. In deconstructing Western academia's power sphere, I endorse a political slant in the academic, calling for scrutiny of "truth," an understanding of hegemonic undertones, and a further examination of native and subaltern voices and perspectives. As scholars attempt to holistically accommodate these viewpoints, post-structural theory assists in prioritizing the need to recognize, dissect, and assess scholars' own subjectivities and its (biased) effects on social science research.
